

6.05.20

5:34 PM

meeting 14

The axe carrying walk mechanic does not feel intuitive in practice.

Iterating with the axe recall mechanic lead to several interesting versions.

plan for next version 2.0

Rethinking the camera

11:17 PM

Discussing Osama

During the playtest prof. csongor made several really good points about how Osama's particular set of skills could be beneficial to our project.

After considering all perspectives, I have reason to believe that having Osama in the team would be more beneficial than detrimental from a purely professional stand point and only considering the good of the project.

The integrity of the current team will be hit and it will be shaken but I honestly do not believe that it will be broken. I have faith in our chemistry and Osama is, in fact, much less volatile than present personalities.

I also have faith in my organising, planning, and people management skills.

that said, ultimately I will go with whatever the majority opinion happens to be on the issue.